Couples Commissioned Artwork

MEET THE VISIONARY

J. Alexandra Escarpeta is a visual artist, writer, entrepreneur, and mother living in Costa Rica.

Prior to becoming a full-time artist, she developed and marketed medical devices for traumatic skeletal injuries. Learning about human biology fueled her passion for understanding the healing power of frequencies we all carry within us. To amplify the beauty of healing frequencies, she developed an original artwork technique using sound waves as the foundation.

Initially focused on helping clients vocalize and visualize personal affirmations, her creative journey led her to explore different areas of sound.

“My desire to help people heal has been passed on from many generations. Grandma Mary had healing hands, Abuelita had deep knowledge of healing herbs, and my mother is the most caring person I know! I believe that we honor our internal healing power by activating it often, and in turn, it rewards us by opening up more possibilities. My desire is to help people as they unlock their possibilities.”

SENSUAL HEALING

Science + Spirituality

If we hit our knee on a hard object, we instinctively move to rub it to ease the pain. In order to work efficiently, our bodies ask us for certain nutrients by way of cravings. Without a doubt, our bodies hold powerful healing abilities. To unleash this power, we should intentionally connect to our bodies and listen to them often.

When we unite our bodies with another person's whose frequency compliments our own, a balancing, healing process like no other takes place.

The sound of pleasure is a masterpiece between you and your partner.

The cerebral chemical reactions, the unmatched synergy that can be achieved without words, is sacred; and when we set aside tension, the throat chakra is naturally exercised, resulting in powerful, necessary release.

Sexual intimacy is a divine healing tool in which two bodies communicate and pass on healing benefits that can only come from that union.

SENSUAL HEALING

It is never “just sex” if you are doing it right.

“Sexual contact is one of the most effective of the stimuli through which a mind may be recharged, providing the contact is intelligently made, between man and a woman who have genuine affection for each other.”
